The Wilf Impact Scholars Program

Established through a generous gift by the Wilf Family Foundations, the Wilf Impact Scholars Program selects an annual cohort of New York Law School students who bring diversity, talent, and dedication to public interest careers.

From the time they enter law school, Wilf Scholars are immersed in the world of public interest practice, benefitting from NYLS's specialized public interest advising, gaining connections to public interest practitioners and alumni, working closely with faculty and staff involved in real-world cutting-edge social justice issues, and developing the skills needed to excel in their careers.

To apply for the Wilf Impact Scholars Program, please click the Yes button below, and include a supplemental essay (750 words max, under separate heading after your Personal Statement) in which you discuss your commitment to public interest law and what social justice means to you. You may include the skills necessary to be a strong advocate for underserved communities. Please make sure that your resume reflects your relevant experience.

17. Character & Fitness

1. A:) Have you ever been placed on academic probation, warned, suspended, dropped, expelled, been asked, advised, or permitted to withdraw, or subject to any disciplinary action for academic reasons from any post-secondary school, college, university, professional school, or law school? If yes, attach a supplemental statement that states the facts, including the institution and dates involved, and including insight into the difficulties that led to performance problems.
Or,

B:) Have you ever been disciplined, reprimanded, placed on probation, expelled, or been asked or advised or permitted to withdraw for non-academic reasons from any post-secondary school, college, university, professional school, or law school? If yes, attach a supplemental statement that states the facts, including the institution and dates involved, and including the outcome.
Yes
2. C:) Have you ever, as an adult or a juvenile, been cited, ticketed, arrested, taken into custody, charged with, convicted of or tried for, or pleaded guilty to, the commission of any felony or misdemeanor or the violation of any law, except for minor traffic violations, or been the subject of juvenile delinquency or youthful offender proceeding, or is any such action pending or expected to be brought against you? If you answer yes, attach a supplemental statement that states the charge or charges, the disposition thereof, and the underlying facts, as well as the dates and locations involved and the penalty imposed, if any. We seek your statement and do not wish to receive court documents or letters from counsel.

Notes: Although a conviction may have been sealed or expunged from the record by an order of the court, it nevertheless must be disclosed in answer to this question. An example of a "minor traffic violation" includes parking tickets that have been paid. A matter that is “like” a traffic violation, but does not involve a vehicle must be disclosed. Traffic violations involving alcohol or drugs are not minor. If you are uncertain as to whether a matter must be disclosed in accordance with this question, please ask the Office of Admissions and Financial Aid. We advise you to fully disclose any matter; the outcome does not determine whether the matter must be disclosed.

Yes

3. D:) Were you ever separated from any branch of the armed forces of the United States under conditions other than honorable? If you answer yes, attach a supplemental statement that explains the relevant facts of your discharge. Note: If you have not served the U.S. armed forces, enter an answer of no.

No

4. E:) Have you ever been suspended from practice, reprimanded, censured, removed, or otherwise disciplined as a member of any profession, or have complaints or charges, formal or informal, ever been made or filed or proceedings instituted against you in such capacity? If you answer yes, attach a supplemental statement that explains the relevant facts and disposition. Note: This question refers to professions and jobs which require licensure or adherence to ethical codes.

No

18. Certification

1. Electronic submission of this application for admission to New York Law School, using the LSAC electronic application, certifies that you agree to the following: You certify that the answers to the questions on this application are complete and accurate. You understand that failure to provide truthful answers to any of the application questions, or failure to inform the Office of Admissions and Financial Aid of any changes in, or additions to, the information contained in your answers, may result in denial of admission, dismissal, or rescission of an awarded degree from New York Law School, and referral of the matter to the LSAC's Misconduct and Irregularities in the Admission Process Subcommittee. You understand you have an ongoing obligation to update this application even after enrolling at New York Law School. You understand that a copy of this application will be forwarded to the appropriate Committee on Character and Fitness at the time you apply for admission to the bar, and that any omission or misstatement on this application may result in denial of admission to the bar.
If admitted to New York Law School, you assent to, agree to be bound by, and agree to comply with all the rules, regulations, and directions of the School (including those listed in the Student Handbook, the Academic Catalog, and class syllabi) and any other relevant rules, regulations, and directions insofar as they apply to you. You understand that all credentials and other materials submitted during the application process become the property of New York Law School and will not be returned. You understand that any action taken on this application by the Admissions Committee is solely within its discretion and that the decision is final. New York Law School does not charge an application fee for electronically filed applications for admission. All applications for admission to the JD program must be submitted electronically using the LSAC electronic application.

QUALIFICATIONS FOR ADMISSION TO THE BAR

In addition to a bar examination, there are character, fitness, and other qualifications for admission to the bar in every U.S. jurisdiction. Applicants are encouraged to determine the requirements for any jurisdiction in which they intend to seek admission by contacting the jurisdiction directly. Addresses for all relevant agencies are available through the National Conference of Bar Examiners. (Standard 504a).

I acknowledge this statement.

After graduating college, I felt like I had a big hole in my life. I was looking for a challenge; something to give me passion. This is what drew me to train for my first half-marathon, which was no easy process.

In the dead of winter, I had to get up early, well before I needed to go to work. Each morning, I wondered if I had the energy and the stamina needed, followed by anxiety: if I can't even do a couple of miles in the morning, how will I ever be able to complete thirteen miles? But I put my long johns on, tie my shoes, and set my running app. It was grey and cold. Ice covered the windshields of cars. I could see my breath in the air. As I kept running, the weight was lifted; I was able to remove some layers and my anxiety was alleviated. And, as my training progressed, I really started to feel like I was ready to conquer the race. Consequently, as my training improved, so did my life. My confidence skyrocketed; I started to excel more at work and meet new friends.

As I approached the last couple miles of the race, I thought of my grandpa, my main support throughout my training. He has always been an avid runner, running the Wildwood Boardwalk, even at the age of eighty-five years old. When I started running, he was ecstatic. The run concluded at the Philadelphia Museum of Art, so as I approached the finish line, I was able to see the Rocky statue. I remembered all the grit and hard work Rocky embodied, and I realized: I have that same grit and that same fight. And, just as Rocky always had Mick in his corner, I had my grandpa. At the finish line, I was handed my medal and frantically searched around the area surrounding the art museum to eventually find my friends and family. I gave my grandpa a big hug and he said, "You did it." "No," I said, "we accomplished this together."

My grandpa also gave me the push I needed to pursue a law degree. Last Memorial Day, I drove down to the beach to talk to my grandpa. He knew I had questions about how I could feel fulfilled and make an impact on the world, so we took a walk on the boardwalk to chat things over. It was a beautiful sunny day; many families were running around the boardwalk, playing games, eating ice cream, and having a good time. I told my grandpa that I wanted to leave a career in business to pursue a law degree. He talked at length about his own illustrious career in the profession, telling me about all the people he's met and the great things he's been able to achieve. By the end of our conversation, I felt I had someone in my corner who knew about the journey I wanted to undertake. Like with running, my grandpa would be my guide and support as I applied to law school.

Besides my pride in being able to follow in my grandpa's footsteps, I'm excited that the field of law will allow me to combine my love of sports with the law. I see myself utilizing the skills I've learned in business, such as understanding what it takes to build a successful company and all the ingredients that make it a success, with my law school education. Based on my experiences working in marketing and client services, I see myself as someone with outstanding people skills and someone with a great ability to connect with people. These skills will allow me to take a role as a sports agent. I feel I'm in a unique position as someone with a deep passion and understanding of sports; combined with my great communication skills, the possibilities in the sports arena are endless for me. While I wish these obstacles didn't happen, I realize I needed them because now I truly know how to push through challenges and what I need to do to solve them.

I would like to provide further information regarding my response to questions 17.1 of this application. I was placed on a brief non-academic probation by Rutgers University from March 1, 2019, to May 1, 2019. After the two months were over and no further incidents occurred, the probation was removed. Additionally, I remained in good academic standing with the university throughout this process.

I would like to provide further information regarding my response to question 17.2 of this application.

In February 2019, I was caught smoking marijuana in my freshman dorm room at Rutgers University. Subsequently, I was charged with two disorderly persons offenses in the state of New Jersey: possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia. Both classified below misdemeanors in the state of New Jersey. I was given a conditional discharge, where I completed a probationary period of one year and then the charges were fully dismissed in June 2020. I was never convicted, nor did I plead guilty at any time. All charges were completely expunged from my record in June 2021. I take full responsibility for my actions. These events occurred during a low point in my life and in no way reflect me as a person or the values which I was raised with. These events were one minor outlier and nothing like this will ever happen again.

I would like to take a brief moment to provide further context to my transcript. I began my undergraduate studies at Rutgers University. During my second semester there, I experienced a traumatic event that is explained further in the character and fitness addendum of this application. My grades suffered in the aftermath of this event. After I transferred to the University of Pittsburgh, things started to turn around for me. As you can see from my transcript, I had an up and down academic experience. Once Covid-19 broke out, my grades the following semester took a hit due to fully remote classes. After I adjusted to the remote environment, my grades improved. One additional factor for my lower GPA, was that I chose to take a data analytics certificate. Those classes were not suited to my strengths, and I struggled.

I do not believe my GPA reflects the student that I am and will be going forward. Thank you for your consideration, and please let me know if you have any questions regarding this matter.
